

*You lead us O Lord from our bondage:
as we sow with our tears
we shall sing when we reap.
Your people rejoice at Your wonder,
our words touched with laughter,
our lips filled with song.*

See what the Lord has done!
Freedom He brings to His people!
Children of Zion arise,
for our Saviour will come
like a dream in the night,
we will follow His song leading into the light of His love.

*You lead us O Lord from our bondage:
as we sow with our tears
we shall sing when we reap.
Your people rejoice at Your wonder,
our words touched with laughter,
our lips filled with song.*

We are streams in dry land:
You are the living water.
Those who go out full of tears carry seed for the earth
when they reap they will sing,
tell a song of rebirth
tell a song of rebirth and new life.
